DRIVE ON THE WISSAHICKON, FAIRMOUNT PARK.

PHILADELPHIA.

EMBRACING the entire county, Philadelphia is the second city in population, [which, by the census of 1870, is 674,022;] in manufactures it is pre-eminent among the cities of the United States; and, except London, it is believed to be the largest in the world. In the vicinity, and, to some extent, within its limits, water power abounds, and the coal mines within the State yield a convenient and exhaustless supply of fuel for her steam engines. Her laboring population is numerous, skilled and industrious;—these advantages, with that of a large home market, offer inducements to the manufacturer that cannot be found elsewhere. Among the manufactures may be mentioned that of locomotives, whose speed and excellence are celebrated the world over; large numbers of them are exported.

Forges, foundries, and almost every species of iron manufacture abound in the suburbs. Sugar refining is a very extensive business in Philadelphia. A large number of hands are employed in lithographing, printing, book binding, etc.; and throughout the business portion of the city, the upper parts of the buildings are thronged with industrious artisans in numberless useful branches of industry.

Philadelphia was planned and settled by William Penn, accompanied by a colony of English Friends or Quakers, in 1682, after a regular purchase from the Indians—ratified by a treaty in due form. The name of Philadelphia (Brotherly Love) was given by William Penn, in part as an embodiment of the principles he intended to carry out in its settlement, and which are a part of the Creed of the Society of Friends, and partly after the ancient city of that name, whose church is spoken of in the book of Revelation. The city rapidly increased, and in three years after the first settlement was made, the population was 2500. In 1771 it was incorporated as a city.

The first Congress of the American States was held here September 4th, 1774, in "Carpenter's Hall" (a building still standing), in Carpenter's Court, south from Chestnut, below 4th. In this city also met all the Congresses of the Revolution. The convention which formed the present Constitution of the United States met in Philadelphia in May, 1787. Here resided the first President of the United States, in a building in Market street below 6th, and here Congress assembled for nearly ten years after the adoption of the present Constitution. In consequence of the disastrous battles of Germantown and Brandywine, the British had possession of the city from September, 1777, to June, 1778. A census, taken at this time by order of Lord Cornwallis, showed the population to be 21,334, exclusive of the army and strangers—the whole of the Whig citizens being also absent. On the first of July, 1869, it contained 108,263 dwelling-houses. This is between 30,000 and 40,000 more dwellings than are contained in the entire city of New York, and more dwellings in proportion to the population than in any other city. These dwellings are remarked by all intelligent strangers as the neatest, cleanliest, and most convenient in the world. There are over 400 churches, and nearly 400 public schools, in which nearly 2000 teachers are employed, and containing over 80,000 pupils.

Although the city covers a large area of territory, all parts of it are made accessible by an extensive system of street railways, which traverse every part of the city. There are sixteen city railways, the aggregate length of whose roads within the city limits being 177 miles, with nearly 700 cars, requiring about 4000 horses, and making about 4500 trips a day.

By Act of Assembly, passed January 31, 1854, the boundaries of the city of Philadelphia, which up to this time were only from Vine to South streets, and from the Delaware to the Schuylkill rivers, were enlarged so as to take in all the municipal districts adjoining, and the whole county of Philadelphia. This statute is commonly called the "Consolidation Act."

FAIRMOUNT PARK.

—:O:—

The glory of Philadelphia is Fairmount Park. Its situation, its broad expanse, the circumstances of its acquisition, and the peculiar history which is attached to many places within its boundaries, give it an unusual interest, not only to the inhabitants of the staid city for whose comfort it has been set apart, but to Americans generally. It lies to the north-west of the great city, and in it, for the streets are reaching out already on both sides of it, and the buildings are crowding against its boundaries. Its southern extremity, or nearest approach to the city, is at the Fairmount Water-works, and from here it extends along both sides of the Schuylkill river for several miles, and a short distance above a cozy little village,

BRIDGE OVER THE WISSAHICKON AT VALLEY GREEN.

ON THE WISSAHICKON DRIVE.

the Falls of the Schuylkill, where the Wissahickon Creek empties into the river. The park boundaries, leaving the Schuylkill, then betake themselves to the Wissahickon, and include that stream and both banks from its mouth nearly to its source, a distance of six miles. But the larger portion of the park is on the west side of the Schuylkill River.

The boundaries of this section of the land conform to the shape of a very irregular hump-backed triangle, the river coursing through the side which would answer for the hypotenuse, and bending, when half way through the park, well into the middle of it. The base of the triangle lies towards the city. At its three corners are the highest altitudes of the included land. The first is the old Water-works; the second, at the opposite corner of the base, is George's Hill, and the third, Chimouni, is at the apex. From each of these a view of rare beauty and wide expanse is obtained, and from the three, nearly every part of the vast territory of the park is visible, except the northern extension of the Wissahickon Park.

The boundaries of the park include about twenty-seven hundred acres of every variety of land, part of which is native forest, while the remainder has been subjected to widely different degrees of cultivation. It exhibits every phase of the picturesque, from the well-kept lawns and highly cultured garden plots, wherein have bloomed for many generations exotic plants and multitudes of rare flowers, to the roughly-tilled fields of the careless farmer. Its surface is shaped into contours more graceful than science could have conceived or art executed, while bold rugged hills toss their heads in natural pride and disdain at the idea of being restrained by plummet and line.

DIMENSIONS OF THE PARK.

Fairmount is the largest park in the United States, and there is but one, of any celebrity, larger in the world. This is Windsor, one of the Royal parks in the vicinity of London, which contains three thousand acres. Central Park, New York, is less than one-third the size of Fairmount Park.

ENTRANCE TO FAIRMOUNT.

The nearest entrance to Fairmount from the city is but a few minutes' drive from the centre of business, and is approached by several lines of street cars. To the left of the main carriage-way, on entering, are the Reservoir and the Water-works. A succession of terraces, surmounted by paths, give access to the summit of the first, whence, on account of its altitude and peculiar position, a view of rare interest can be obtained. Close up around the base of the hill on the south, and stretching away as far as the eye can carry, is the great city. Its buildings in set ranks, its spear-like church-steeple, its waving flags, and its overhanging smoke, suggest the idea of an army entering battle—an impression that is heightened by the roar and noise that come creeping up the hill. On the near north-west, and on the east bank of the river, is the Old Park ; and beyond, on the west side of the river, and also on the east, much farther than the eye can reach from this point, lie the new East and West Parks ; while the Wissahickon extension is quite out of sight. The Old Park, on account of its pretty walks and cooling fountains, is still a popular resort for those who do not care to enter farther into the grounds than merely to cross their threshold. Looking back from Lemon Hill, the next point of interest, the Water-works themselves form a pleasing view, with the stretch of the river above and below the dam. Lemon Hill and Sedgeley, the neighboring estates, are points of historic interest, and the inclusion of these, and several others hereafter to be mentioned, within the park limits, by which they will for all time be preserved for the city as the absolute property of its citizens, gives an additional value to Fairmount.

LEMON HILL.

Lemon Hill, at the close of the Revolution, was the residence of Robert Morris, the celebrated financier. It was then called "The Hills," and contained forty-five acres, which were laid out and adorned with rare taste. Here its owner hospitably entertained many of the most eminent of his compatriots ; and here, in later times, it is said, when financial ruin overtook him—for while he operated for the government with signal ability, as if "sky-guarded and heaven-directed, leading to a national end by an over-ruling Providence," when acting for himself all his personal affairs went wrong and to ruin,—here he kept out of reach of sheriff's writs. At the close of the last century this fine estate passed into the hands of Henry Pratt, a merchant of liberal means and educated taste, under whose culture it became the pride of Philadelphia. In 1836 it was sold for a large sum to those who bought it for speculative purposes. The speculators, however, failed in their schemes, and through a commercial revulsion it came into the market at one-third its previous price, and was then purchased by the Councils for the city.

SCHUYLKILL NAVY.

A short distance from Lemon Hill, and on the edge of the fore bay of the water-works, are the boat-houses of the "Schuylkill Navy." These buildings are erected, under licenses from the commissioners, by several clubs and by private individuals. They are models of beauty, constructed of blue and green stone, and are covered with creeping vines. Every encouragement is given to boating, and at evening in the summer the river is covered with various kinds of craft, from the capacious pleasure-boats, filled with jolly parties, to the delicate shells, in which amateur oarsmen make contests in speed up and down the stream.

The east and west banks of the Schuylkill are united just above Sedgeley by two bridges—the Girard Avenue and Connecting Railroad bridge. They cross in converging lines but at different planes, and so avoid interference.

Farther on, above "Egglesfield" is "Sweet-brier," and beyond it "Landsdowne," which perhaps, of all the historical places in the park, possesses most interest to the general public. This was the magnificent residence of John Penn, the last Colonial Governor of Pennsylvania. The mansion-like buildings, which unhappily have been destroyed by fire, were erected about 1770.

DRIVES.

The finest drive in the West Park, is named after this old estate. It is a well-made road, which is submissively led about by the natural character and topography of the grounds. The engineers have acted wisely in seeking to find rather than make pleasing contours, and have very cleverly adapted the roads and paths to the existing surface. From a rustic bridge, picturesque itself, there is a charming view of Columbia bridge and the Schuylkill, where the lazy, graceful stream, hemmed in by grassy banks and cooled by the heavy foliage of the overhanging shade-trees, is curled up as if in an easy slumber.

MONSTER PINES.

On this drive also is a group of wonderful trees. It is a grove of five monarch pines, but these "vast pillars of glossy green," with their great heads stretching away up, and their branches spread out, and their trunks of "monumental proportions," are so big that a person at a short distance would think there were fifty instead of five. The tribes of the trees of the park are wonderful, even without these chiefs. Other cities have bought their parks and planted their trees, and then have waited for them to grow, and with their growth furnish shade. But in this instance ready-made trees were procured by incorporating forests and old estates. In Fairmount Park (and the forest borders of the Wissahickon are not included in the enumeration) the trees of large size, those between eighteen inches and twenty-seven feet in girth, number thirty-four thousand seven hundred, embracing, according to the Commissioners' report, thirty-nine genera and sixty species.

RAVINES.

In this vicinity, and just off from the Landsdowne drive, is a ravine—two or three of them, in fact—of rare beauty. Deep down below the level of the adjoining plain its recesses afford cool retreats, which are securely walled in by green terraces. These places are continually at the disposal of picnic parties, and hardly a day passes but that they are occupied. The park authorities provide a cordon of policemen who warn away intruders from the entrances and minister to the wants of the pleasure party. The efforts of the Commissioners in this respect are indicative of the light in which they regard the relation of the people to the park. They have thoughtfully sought to furnish to the masses of the people every facility of access to their property, and have only imposed such restraints to their enjoyment of it as were necessary to prevent unwarranted license. Steamboats and row-boats have been encouraged to ply on the Schuylkill, and arrangements for cheap fare and frequent trains have been made with railroads that penetrate the park. Its broad expanses of campus are the undisturbed playgrounds of the children, and no forbidding signs warn them from intruding on the grass. Croquet parties make the lawns of the old estates, where erst courtly ladies promenaded, ring again with their mirth and hilarity. The very mansions themselves, are, for an afternoon at least, the country residences of the people, and their spacious apartments and wide halls and cool verandas are thronged with private parties who find much pleasure in entertaining and being entertained. The fruits even of these places are at the disposal of the people, and for the last two seasons the school children of the city have been given a holiday, and afforded an opportunity to gather the nuts which by an October frost were ripened on nearly four thousand trees. On these occasions the number present was estimated to be quite sixty thousand. It is now proposed to institute two park holidays, or rather holiday seasons: one in June for botanical and floral recreation, and the other in autumn for nut-gathering.

GEORGE'S HILL.

George's Hill is perhaps, at present, the most popular of all the resorts in the park for equestrian and driving parties. It is the high point in the western base of the triangle. It was presented as a gift by Jesse George and his sister Rebecca George, subject to annuities for life, and consists of eighty-three acres. In a characteristic address accompanying the donation, Mr. George stated that the property had been the home of his ancestors for many generations, and from the first settlement of the country has retained many of its original features. With a view of preserving it to their memory very much in the same rural condition as when they occupied it, he gave it to the city, to be forever kept for park purposes. Both of the donors reserved but a small annual payment during their lifetime. A few weeks after the grand celebration which attended the opening of the drive to the newly acquired property, Rebecca George quietly passed away.

BELMONT.

An inviting drive has been run along the western summit leading from George's Hill to the grounds in front of Belmont Mansion. Belmont was the residence of Judge Peters, a magistrate who exercised his varied functions with rare wit and ability. His hospitality was proverbial, and was enjoyed by many distinguished personages, among whom was George Washington, who set out a chestnut tree on the place, which, with a line of fine hemlocks, planted one hundred and twenty years ago, and many of them covered with ivy, flourished until recently. The hemlocks, many of them are still standing. The arms of the family may yet be seen in the wainscoted principal room, and on one of the windows is a "good-bye" which some departing guest of the last century has cut with a diamond.

TOM MOORE'S COTTAGE.

Under the bank of Belmont and nestled close to the river is the plainest kind of a plain story-and-a-half cottage, which is said to have been the residence of

HEMLOCK GLEN ON THE WISSAHICKON.

Tom Moore while in this country. It is of all places along the river the most prosaic, and we wonder that this should have attracted the attention, even for a moment, of the poet. Of it, however, he sings:—

—“while I wing'd the hours
Where Schuylkill winds his way through banks of flowers,
Though few the days, the happy evenings few,
So warm with heart, so rich with mind they flew,
That my charmed soul forgot its wish to roam,” etc.

Nearly opposite “Tom Moore’s Cottage” are “Ormiston,” “Bellevue,” and “Edgely,” each invested with peculiar associations. To the grounds about these estates, also, croquet and picnic parties make frequent excursions, and relieve the hobgoblin quiet, for a wonderful ghost is said to have once been joint possessor with the old residents. In close proximity to this region, thick with places of historical interest, is a roomy house which was built by Mr. McPherson, uncle of the commander of McPherson’s Blues; was afterwards the property of General Williams; but for a time had been owned by Benedict Arnold, who married Miss Shippen, the noted Philadelphia belle.

LAUREL HILL CEMETERY.

Farther up the river is Laurel Hill Cemetery. It is like all cemeteries, with its white glistening tombs, its green turf and graveled walks and queer inscriptions. It is like all American cemeteries of to-day, with its frequent soldiers’ monuments. But it differs from all others in its sleepy, dreamy appearance, and the beautiful ravines which run through it, conveying brooks with subdued murmurings to the river, and affording opportunities for nestling aeries, from which those who come to rest awhile with the dead may look out on one side over the peaceful river, and on the other toward the beautiful grounds.

FALLS BRIDGE.

Above Laurel Hill is the Falls Bridge across the Schuylkill, and a short distance beyond, on the river-bank, is the pretty village of the Falls of the Schuylkill. It is the pleasant place of residence of many gentlemen who do business in the city, and a popular resort for driving and boating parties from Philadelphia, who come here to the “cat-fish and coffee” suppers which are delightfully served at the plain hotels of the village and in the valley of the Wissahickon. The "Falls" of the Schuylkill, however, are a myth, since the dam has covered them with water. Here and there an eddy is formed by the water hurrying around a few intruding rocks which disturb its serenity. But beyond this there is no likeness to falls, or even rapids.

The Falls of the Schuylkill, like everything else in the park, as the reader will believe by this time, are also celebrated in history. The annals of the ante-Revolutionary times tell us that at an early era in the eighteenth century an association called the "Society of Fort St. David," having on its list a large and respectable number of the nobility of those days, was established in this vicinity. Many of the founders of the society were Welshmen, and some were members of the Society of Friends, companions of William Penn, and co-emigrants to the New World. On an elevated and extensive rock contiguous to the eastern bank of the river, and projecting into the rapids that existed at that time, rose the primitive but convenient and strong structure of hewn timber cut from the opposite forest. It was capacious enough for the accommodation of the numerous garrison, who were then "more celebrated for their deeds of gastronomy than of arms." The building was seventy feet long and twenty feet wide, and had fourteen ascending steps in front. The sides, which consisted entirely of folding or movable doors and windows, were borne off by the Hessians for their huts in 1777-8, and the place was so changed and injured that it was never used for its former purposes, after the Revolution. In its early days it was a semi-political as well as social club, and many prominent men of the times were honored by being admitted to its membership. Its officers, who were commissioned with much form and carried high titles, ruled with supreme sway, and were, in all matters of state, implicitly obeyed. The annals of the official book give an account on the sixteenth of April, 1768, of the election to the "Colony of the Schuylkill" of a man who needed not this mark of distinction to cause him to be remembered, and yet was complimented by it. We read: "John Dickenson, Esq., the friend of Liberty, the second Pitt, and the author of the Farmers' letters, for his patriotic productions in behalf of the rights, liberties, and privileges of the present as well as the rising and future generations in America, is hereby admitted one of our members, for good services done by him to the interests of the British Plantations in America," etc.

Although the lodge at the Falls had been so much injured during the Revolution as to be untenable, the members, as many of them as could be assembled, and with accessions of loyal spirits, reorganized after the war, and for some years continued the practice of annually resorting to the neighborhood to fish and recreate.

During this time a reception was given with much formality to General Lafayette. A grand banquet was spread and festivities of various kinds were introduced in honor of the French General and the hero of Revolutionary battles. It is related of the affair that when the mirth was at its height the distinguished guest insisted upon being provided with towels and an apron, in order that, with the celebrated men around him, he might perform his share of the domestic and culinary duties.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

WEST LAUREL HILL CEMETERY.

Over the river, above the Falls of the Schuylkill, is West Laurel Hill Cemetery, which is, topographically speaking, on the apex of the irregular triangle which the park boundaries form. From its summit wide sweeping views of the river above and below are presented, views so attractive that they have already tempted the pencils of several artists. A glimpse is given on the opposite shore of the Wissahickon at its confluence with the Schuylkill.

Fairmount Park, in addition to the extensive lands on the east and west banks of the river, embraces, as has before been suggested, the Wissahickon Creek for six miles from its mouth, and sufficient territory on both sides to make a grand drive. A road at present runs through the valley, and has been in use for many years by residents at Chestnut Hill, a collection of handsome country places near the source of the Wissahickon. Although merely a country road, it is the most attractive drive out of Philadelphia, on account of the magnificent scenery which it presents.

THE WISSAHICKON.

There are not many such streams as the Wissahickon,—none perhaps in this country, and few in the world. For several miles it picks its way daintily between two rows of high hills, down to the river, bending first one way and then another; now darting straight forward, and again lying still and quiet as if devising new mischief. Sometimes it is only a noisy brook running over pebbly bottoms, and anon a flashing cascade leaping from rock to rock with shouting noise. Then it widens out into a sober river which flows into a peaceful lake, so quiet that down in its depths the trees that meet above it are reflected with every delicate outline of foliage. After playing lake for a while, and when it can keep quiet no longer, it is off with a leap over some rustic dam, to repeat its waywardness all along its course to the Schuylkill. It is enclosed all the way by high hills whose bases creep down to the very water's edge, and whose summits are crowned with lofty peaks and craggy rocks which bristle against the sky. On their sides are—

Majestic woods of every vigorous green
Stage above stage, high waving o'er the hills;
And to the far horizon wide diffused
A boundless deep immensity of shade.

So close do the embracing hills come, as if to guard their precious charge, that it has been necessary to cut the road into their sides, and all day long it is shaded by their frowning heads. Here and there are

THE DEVIL'S POOL.

projecting boulders, bare and destitute of any living thing. Near by is a quiet nook, carpeted with soft mosses and odorous with the fragrance of wild-flowers and ferns.

Romancers have woven the queer legends of the Wissahickon, which date back a couple of centuries, into interesting tales that are still read with avidity. The artists of to-day, like those of the last generation, have made its haunts their out-door studios. Many of its phases have been transferred to canvas; and others, where ruins of old mills and picturesque, odd-fashioned bridges relieve the landscape, afford studies of rare beauty.

Through the valley at frequent intervals are hotels, which, until last fall, were the resort of picnic parties and pleasure-seekers. The proprietors of them had procured wild animals and tamed them to exhibit to their guests. One enterprising tavern-keeper added to his collection a cage of monkeys, which entertained at all hours with their antics a group of amused spectators.

One of the most picturesque places in the valley of the Wissahickon is where Creasheim's creek runs into the larger stream. Here a pool, dark and deep, lurks under a huge overhanging rock. It is called the Devil's Pool, and the glen which surrounds it is a highly-prized resort for picnic parties, on account of its beauty and retirement.

Along the road drinking fountains have been erected, through which the pure water from the springs is conducted. They are plain but still beautiful, and are so situated as to add an additional attraction to the surrounding scenery. These bear, as do the others erected elsewhere by the city authorities, the inscription Pro bono publico; esto perpetua, indicating the design and desire of their founders.

Farther on up the stream is the old bridge over the Wissahickon near Valley Green, and above it still is Indian Rock, where it is said a chieftain used to bring his people for councils of war and to give them instruction. Away on above these the stream grows smaller, and the hills, relieved of their duty of guarding it, surrender their charge to the open meadows and gentle banks, which make up a landscape of rare beauty near Chestnut Hill.

Other cities by the expenditure of money may obtain beautiful plots of ground, laid out with scientific precision and adorned with the elegance of art, but only one park can have the Wissahickon.

We have sketched the Fairmount Park as it now appears to the eye. It is but begun. The Commissioners have been but about two years at work upon it; some time having necessarily been consumed in acquiring the titles to the land—a work still in progress. Every year hereafter will present some new improvement and development. But let it be remembered by their successors, that art here is never to be carried to such elaborate refinement as to impair nature's own rare and picturesque handiwork.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

INDEPENDENCE HALL.

ONE of the first public buildings which will attract the attention of the stranger, and one that is most eagerly sought after, is the venerable OLD STATE HOUSE, or Independence Hall, located on Chestnut Street, between Fifth and Sixth. It is a somewhat plain but substantial brick structure, built in 1734. It was in the east room, on the first floor of this building, that the immortal Declaration of Independence was passed by Congress, July 4th, 1776. The Hall has been dedicated to public use. A large number of portraits of Revolutionary patriots by Peale, Inman and others, have been placed upon the walls. Rush's fine statue of Washington adorns the east end of the Hall. The old chandelier used by the Continental Congress hangs in its old place. The Liberty bell, bearing the motto: "Proclaim Liberty throughout the land to all the inhabitants thereof"—and which proclaimed freedom on the first celebration of Independence, July 8th, 1776, is placed on a pedestal in this room. And a collection of mementoes and curiosities of the "times that tried men's souls," may be seen here. Open to all from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

In the upper parts of the building, the rooms once occupied by the United States Congress are now used as the Chambers of the City Councils. The other parts of the building, and the wings, are occupied as public offices and court rooms.

The present steeple, erected in 1828, is a fac simi'e of the old one, which was removed on account of its decay.

THE UNITED STATES CUSTOM HOUSE,

Chestnut Street, between Fourth and Fifth. This building, formerly occupied by the United States bank, is a splendid marble edifice, in imitation of the Parthenon at Athens, and is one of the finest specimens of Doric architecture erected in modern times. It was commenced in 1819, completed in 1824, and cost half a million dollars.

UNITED STATES MINT,
N. W. cor. of Chestnut and Juniper, is a handsome brick building, faced with marble. Its style of architecture is an imitation of a Grecian temple of the Ionic Order. It has a front of 122 feet on Chestnut street, and extends back to Penn Square. The portico in front is 62 feet wide; and its entablature, which is of white marble, is supported by six marble columns. The main entrance is from Chestnut Street, where persons connected with the institution are in attendance to escort visitors through the establishment. Visitors are admitted every day, except Saturdays and Sundays, between 9 and 12 o'clock. All the operations, from melting the crude metal to coining, may be seen here. The operations carried on are exceedingly curious and interesting. One steam engine is said to be unsurpassed in the States for gracefulness of movement. A magnificent cabinet of coins of all ages and nations can be seen here.

THE MERCHANTS' EX- CHANGE,

Covering nearly an entire block, and fronting on three streets, Third, Walnut, and Dock. An elegant marble building, with semi-circular portico of Corinthian columns. The semi-rotunda, with a part of the main building, constitutes the great hall of the Exchange, which is now used as a reading-room

GIRARD COLLEGE,

Situated on Ridge avenue, above Girard avenue. This magnificent building, one of the most costly in the United States, was commenced July 4, 1833, finished in 1847, and opened for educational purposes January 1, 1848. The main building is constructed of white marble, in the form of a Grecian temple of the Corinthian order, entirely surrounded by lofty columns.

The body of the building within the walls and columns is 111 feet wide, by 169 feet long, and 56 feet 8 inches high. The roof is of marble, and weighs 969½ tons. The out-buildings are of marble, and are very handsome. The edifice, mansion, and improvement of the grounds cost $1,933,821.78. The establishment will accommodate 500 children.— Only male orphan children are admitted.

Visitors are admitted by tickets, which may be obtained at the Mayor's office, or of any of the directors.

UNITED STATES NAVAL ASYLUM,

Gray's Ferry road, below South street; founded 1835. The principal building is of marble, 360 feet front by 175 deep. The grounds and park contain 25 acres. There are accommodation for 400 pensioners — old seamen who have seen hard service. Visitors are admitted upon application any time during the day.

UNITED STATES ARSENAL,

Near Frankford. A large quantity of arms, a powder magazine, trophies won in battle from the enemy, etc., may be seen here. Visitors are admitted to the buildings on application to the commanding officer.

THE ACADEMY OF NAT- URAL SCIENCES,

Situated on the N. W. Corner Broad and Sansom. This institution was founded in January, 1812, and incorporated in 1817, for the advancement of Natural Science in all its branches. The society has a library of over 30,000 volumes, and maps, charts, periodicals, etc. The museum is the largest in the United States. It is divided into cabinets of Zoology, Botany, Geology, and Mineralogy, etc. There is a collection of crania containing several hundred specimens of human skulls. The cabinet of specimens of Ornithology is immense, numbering over 30,000 stuffed birds. The variety of humming birds is very large. In the Botanic Department are over 30,000 specimens of plants. In fact, in all branches of science this museum is complete. Visitors are admitted on Tuesday and Friday afternoons.

THE PHILADELPHIA LI- BRARY,

Corner Fifth and Library streets, is the oldest public library in the United States, and contains about 80,000 volumes. The corner-stone was laid August 31, 1789.—The Loganian Library is connected with it, the books of which are free to Philadelphians and strangers. The directors of the Philadelphia Library are also as liberal. Any respectable person is admitted to the inspection and use of the books in the library upon application. An ancient view of the city of Philadelphia, painted in 1727 by Peter Cooper, a clock that belonged to William Penn, a clock which is supposed to have belonged to Oliver Cromwell, and other objects of interest may be seen. The institution has been made the legatee of the entire estate of Dr. James Rush, amounting to over a million of dollars, in trust for the erection of a fire-proof library building, and the future support and endowment thereof.

THE MERCANTILE LIBRARY,

On Tenth, above Chestnut street. It was founded for the benefit of young men employed in the various mercantile establishments of the city, and has a large collection of well-assorted books for popular reading.

Besides the Philadelphia and Mercantile Libraries, there are several other public libraries, including—

THE GERMAN LIBRARY, Seventh, above Chestnut.

THE APPRENTICES LIBRARY, in the old Friends' meeting-house, corner Fifth and Arch.

THE FRIENDS' FREE LIBRARY, Arch, above Third.

SOUTHWARK LIBRARY, Second, below Bainbridge.

GIRARD LIBRARY, S. W. corner Sixth and Girard avenue.

THE FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION LIBRARY.

There are also libraries connected with many of the literary, scientific, and religious associations of the city.

PENNSYLVANIA INSTITUTION FOR THE DEAF AND DUMB,

N. W. Corner of Broad and Pine streets. This institution was founded in 1820, and the present edifice completed in 1825. The building is of granite, 96 feet front by 235 feet in depth. There are accommodations for about 200 pupils, who are treated with every regard for their welfare and improvement. Visitors are admitted on application to the Principal, Mr. J. Foster. Public exhibitions are given in the institution on Thursday afternoons.

PENNSYLVANIA INSTITUTION FOR THE BLIND,

At the corner of Twentieth and Race. It was founded in 1833. The building is four stories high, with a front of 150 feet on Race street, with two wings of 60 feet in depth, and accommodates about 100 pupils, who are taught various avocations, and educated very thoroughly. Particular attention is paid to music; and many of the pupils become so proficient, that they are enabled to gain a livelihood by becoming organists, teachers of music, etc. Visitors are admitted on application to the Principal. Very pleasing concerts are given on Wednesday afternoons, accompanied by a full orchestra. A small admission fee (15cts.) is charged, to avoid too great a crowd.

THE PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL,

On the block bounded by Eighth and Ninth, and Spruce and Pine—principal entrance on Eighth. It is surrounded by majestic trees, and exhibits considerable architectural beauty, though somewhat venerable in aspect. It was founded in 1751 by benevolent citizens of Philadelphia. Its length, from east to west, is 281 feet. It consists of a centre building 64 feet front, by 61 feet deep, and two wings extending north and south at the end of long connecting wards. There are also several out-buildings. There is a fine statue of William Penn in lead on the Pine street front, which was presented to the institution by John Penn. Visitors are admitted every day between 10 A. M. and sunset, except on Saturdays and Sundays.

THE PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE.

This is a branch of the Pennsylvania Hospital, and is located in West Philadelphia, between Market street and Haverford road, and Forty-second and Forty-ninth streets. The grounds, which are beautifully adorned with trees, flowers, and shrubbery, embrace 133 acres. They are divided into two parts. On each of them a hospital building has been erected, the cost of which, together with the grounds, was over $600,000. Both are built of cut stone, and have an imposing appearance. One of these buildings is devoted to the male, and the other to the female patients. They are capable of accommodating 500 insane patients. Visitors are admitted from 10 A. M. till sunset, except on Saturdays and Sundays.

FRIENDS' ASYLUM FOR THE INSANE.

This institution is located in the northern part of the city, near Frankford. It is supported by contributions from Friends, and by pay received from patients. It is managed with eminent prudence, skill, and humanity.

THE BLOCKLEY ALMS-HOUSE.

This is a magnificent pile of buildings situated on the west side of the Schuylkill, opposite South street. It occupies a spacious tract of land some 190 acres, belonging to the city. It has accommodations for about 2500 persons. It is built in the form of a hollow square, is three stories in height, and the buildings on each side are 500 feet in length. In the middle of the south front is an elegant portico, in the Tuscan style of architecture, with six handsome columns. There are here a very extensive hospital and insane asylum. Visitors are admitted in day time on application.

WILLS' HOSPITAL.

This institution was founded by James Wills, who gave to the city for the purpose $108,390. Its grounds occupy the entire block bounded by Race, Cherry, Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets. It is devoted to the treatment of diseases of the eye and limbs. Besides the inmates, many of whom are charity patients, there are numerous "out patients" who attend for advice and relief. Logan Square is directly opposite on the other side of Race street, and adds much to the desirability of its location. Visitors are admitted on application to the Steward.

HOUSE OF INDUSTRY,

On Catharine above Seventh. This location is in the midst of the lowest and most destitute portion of the population. The object of the institution is to afford employment, with occasional shelter and relief, to the needy.

THE EASTERN PENITENTIARY,

Of the State of Pennsylvania, is located on Coates street, near Fairmount Park. The front is of granite, and resembles in appearance a baronial castle of the Feudal times. It was finished in 1829. The number of prisoners is about 500. The system of confinement is separate, but not solitary. The cells radiate from a common centre—each prisoner having his apartment, and a small yard or enclosure. Visitors can obtain tickets of admission from the Mayor of the city, or from any of the inspectors.

MOYAMENSING PRISON,

Is on Passyunk avenue, near Tenth. It is constructed of Quincey granite, in the Tudor-Gothic style of architecture. The front of the prison consists of a square building, in the centre, three stories in height, with a wing on each side, flanked by octagonal towers. The wings are two stories in height, and contain the gates of the prison yard.

There is a separate prison for females, to which the entrance is on Eleventh street. There are 400 cells for males, and 100 for female prisoners. Permits can be obtained at the Mayor's office, corner Fifth and Chestnut streets.

THE HOUSE OF REFUGE,

Is at the corner of Twenty-second and Poplar streets, near the western end of Girard College grounds, and a little north of the State Penitentiary. It is intended for the restraint and reclamation of youthful offenders against the laws, and a home for those whose neglected and vagrant condition renders them liable to be led into crime. It is built of brick, and embraces numerous improvements in its various arrangements. It is spacious, well ventilated, and warmed, being heated by steam, and presents throughout an aspect of order, neatness and comfort. Originally built by private liberality, it has been recognized by an Act of the State Legislature, and authorized to receive and detain juveniles committed to their custody by the magistrates and courts. The inmates are educated both physically and mentally, and many of them are placed in good situations, or are bound out as apprentices to suitable masters. The sexes and colors are separated, and a classification is made of the good and the bad. Visitors are admitted with tickets, which may be had of any of the Board of Managers.

THE SCHOOL OF DESIGN FOR WOMEN

Was established in 1850, under the patronage of the Franklin Institute. Here females are instructed in drawing and other arts, at a moderate charge, with a view of benefiting the condition of the sex, by affording suitable and pleasant employment, and at the same time of improving the products of American manufactures, in those branches where artistic taste and skill are required. It is located at the corner of Filbert and Merrick streets, and may be visited on Monday morning, from 10 to 12 o'clock.

THE FRANKLIN INSTITUTE

Occupies a plain, but substantial edifice on Seventh above Chestnut; in which, during the winter season, lectures are delivered on Mechanics, Chemistry and other sciences, to large and intelligent audiences. The reading-room, library, and cabinet of models and minerals are in the second story, and are open daily.

THE POST OFFICE.

This is a substantial granite building, located on Chestnut street, below Fifth, next to the Custom House. It is open at all times for the general delivery and reception of mail matter.

THE CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL,

At the corner of Broad and Green streets, is a large and handsome building, with an extensive chemical laboratory, astronomical observatory, etc.

ATHENÆUM BUILDING,
Corner of Sixth and Adelphi streets. The Historical Society of Pennsylvania occupy rooms in this building, and have an interesting museum and library. Open every Monday from 8 A. M. to 10 P. M., except during July and August.

FAIRMOUNT WATER- WORKS,

On the Schuylkill River, north of Morris street. The Fairmount Works were commenced in 1819, in consequence of the inability of the city works, built in the year 1799, to supply the wants of a growing population. This beautiful place has always been an unfading object of attraction and interest to all visitors to the city. The natural beauties of the place have been skillfully improved by art. The works situated here were for many years the only means of artificial supply of water to the city, and are still the principal means, although there are four other water-works for different parts of the city. At Fairmount the only power used for forcing the water up to reservoirs on the hill, and at Corinthian avenue, is the water-power formed by the dam and waterfall constructed across the Schuylkill at this place.

THE SCHUYLKILL WATER WORKS

Are situated near the Girard avenue entrance to the Park, on the east side of the Schuylkill. These works are driven by steam-power, and were originally designed to supply the old districts of Spring Garden and Penn with water. They are now connected with the general system for the whole city. The Cornish pumping engines at these works are objects of interest to all who take an interest in machinery. These works furnished the city with 2,337,365,642 gallons of water in 1868. The reservoir for the Schuylkill works is north-west of Girard College, and contains 9,800,000 gallons.

THE WEST PHILADELPHIA WATER-WORKS

Are situated on the west side of the Schuylkill, about midway between the Wire bridge and the Girard avenue bridge, and within the limits of the Park. These, also, are steam works, driven by small Cornish engines, and they furnished the wards on the west side of the Schuylkill with 727,824,780 gallons of water in 1868.

THE KENSINGTON WATER- WORKS

Are on the Delaware River, at Gunner's Run, and send the water to a reservoir on Sixth street.

THE CITY GAS-WORKS,
On the Schuylkill, near Point Breeze, are very extensive, and contain the largest gasometers and apparatus in the United States. They are connected with

THE OLD CITY GAS- WORKS,

Market street and the Schuylkill River.

THE SPRING GARDEN GAS- WORKS,

Morris street, near Fairmount. Permits will admit visitors to any of these works. Tickets can be had at the Mayor's office.

PUBLIC SQUARES.

THE Public Squares are numerous, and very ornamental to the city. They are laid out with well-kept walks, majestic trees, green and luxuriant grass plots, and some having beautiful fountains. On pleasant days in the spring and summer, they are filled with happy people, principally women and children, seated on the pleasant shady seats, or promenading under the trees, enjoying the pure and refreshing air. As they resemble each other in their general features, it is only necessary to give the names and locations of the more important ones.

INDEPENDENCE SQUARE, Between Fifth, Sixth, Chestnut and Walnut streets, was formerly the property of the State, and was conveyed to the city with the proviso, that it should be kept open as a public square.

WASHINGTON SQUARE

Is west of Sixth, and south of Walnut. - It was formerly a "Potter's" field, or graveyard for paupers, but is now one of the finest of the public squares.

FRANKLIN SQUARE

Is between Sixth, Vine, Race, and Franklin streets. A handsome square, with a beautiful fountain in the centre.

LOGAN SQUARE,

Bounded by Race, Vine, Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets.

RITTENHOUSE SQUARE,

Between Walnut, Locust, Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets. In the neighborhood of these last two squares are many elegant private residences.

PENN SQUARE

Is situated at Broad and Market streets. The court house and offices of the officers of the city and county are to be erected here. It was so intended by William Penn, and in accordance with the wishes of the majority of the citizens, who recently voted in favor of it.

NORRIS SQUARE,

Given to the city by Isaac Parker Norris, is bounded by Susquehanna avenue and Hancock, Diamond and Howard streets.

JEFFERSON SQUARE,

West from Third, and south from Washington avenue.

CEMETERIES.

THE Cemeteries of Philadelphia are noted for their rural and picturesque beauty, the good taste of the monuments, and the pains taken to render them beautiful and attractive.

LAUREL HILL

Is one of the most beautiful in this country. It is situated west of Ridge avenue, and on the east side of the Schuylkill River, just below the Falls. The entrance is built of brown stone, of Doric style, the entablature being supported by eight fluted columns. Within the grounds are a Gothic chapel, the superintendent's residence, an observatory, commanding a fine view of the river and opposite shore; a hot house, for flowers and shrubbery, etc. Many distinguished people are buried here, and elegant and costly monuments abound.

WEST LAUREL HILL CEMETERY,

Situated on the west bank of the Schuylkill River, beyond the Falls. This is a new cemetery, and presents many advantages. It is accessible by Reading Railroad, Ridge avenue horse cars, and the Germantown and Norristown Railroad.

WOODLAND CEMETERY

Is situated on the west bank of the Schuylkill, below the Chestnut street bridge. Entrance on Woodland avenue, or Darby road.

MOUNT VERNON CEME- TERY

Is adjacent to Laurel Hill

Cemetery, on the opposite side of Ridge road.

MOUNT PEACE CEMETERY

Adjoins Mount Vernon Cemetery on the north.

GLENWOOD CEMETERY

Is at the corner of Ridge avenue and Islington lane, about a mile north-west of Girard College.

THE ODD FELLOWS' CEMETERY

Is a little north of Glenwood, on Islington lane.

MONUMENT CEMETERY

Is on Broad street, above Montgomery.

OLD OAK CEMETERY,

On Nicetown lane, between Twenty-third and Twenty-seventh streets.

NEW CATHEDRAL CEME- TERY,

HORTICULTURAL HALL.

THE NEW STREET DIRECTORY OF PHILADELPHIA.

Showing the Streets, Avenues, Lanes, Courts, Places, Etc.

EXPLANATION.

~~45~~ The Streets running North and South, across the City, are from 2d to 72d in numerical order. Divided by Market they are called North and South; those above Market being called North, and those below Market South.

The decimal system of numbering the houses being used, 100 is allowed for each square North and South of Market, and West from the Delaware river: thus No. 200 North Third street would be at Race, 200 South Third at Walnut, 200 Walnut at Second, and 300 at Third, and so on. The even numbers are on the South and West sides, and the odd numbers on the North and East sides.

THE NEW PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

HARPER'S INSTANTANEOUS HAIR DYE.

This splendid Dye is the best in the world. It is harmless and reliable. Contains no sulphur, no sugar of lead, and is entirely free from all the poisonous and health destroying drugs used in other Hair Dyes.

HARPER'S HAIR DYE

Is the only sure and harmless Hair Dye ever discovered. It will not burn the hair or color the skin or linen.

HARPER'S HAIR DYE

Will give white, grey, red, or frosty hair or whiskers a beautiful natural BLACK or BROWN color as soon as it is applied.

There is no better Hair Dye in the world for your hair, whiskers, or moustache than

HARPER'S HAIR DYE.

We want Agents in every part of the country to sell this Dye. They can make money by it. It is cheaper and better than any other Hair Dye in the market.

The price of HARPER'S HAIR DYE is only

50 Cts. Per BOX,
Or SIX Boxes for $2.50.

We will send one dozen boxes by Express to any Druggist or Storekeeper in the United States, who will remit us $4.00. And we warrant it to give satisfaction, or will return the money.

Dealers who would like to act as Agents will please write us. We have other money making articles, which would prove profitable for them to introduce to their customers.
